

Project Description:

In this project, user could check the stock trend of five typically IT stocks and Bank stocks. Also, user could use interactive system to get individual stock close price trend plot. In the next part, the python program would find out days of positive return and days of negative return of one stock in a year and print out them. After above function, this program will store data to the csv document and find out the total close price of one specific stock.